WE ARE THE QUARRY. WE ARE THE FACTORY.

Raw, natural materials form the base of every one of our collections.

Our beautifully designed showrooms and products only hint at the unique position we occupy within the stone industry. We have the luxury of being both the source and retailer. There is no middleman. It is our team of professionals working in the quarries, factories and personally reviewing historic, reclaimed material from around the world. It is our group of designers creating new collections and architectural elements while our artisans hand craft each piece and carve every detail. The end result is a quality product reflecting our company's greatest strength—our people.

This catalog showcases our primary floor collections. We offer hand finished, natural stone products along side fine European wood, wood fired terra cotta, encaustic cement and exquisite antique material. We also have a rich history in all areas of architectural stone. Our full portfolio includes flooring, mosaics, fireplaces, columns, door and window surrounds, exterior cladding, and pool areas.

NATURAL STONE

AGED STONE COLLECTION

European chateaus were traditionally furnished with thick, textured stone. Over time, retouched surfaces combined with natural wearing to form unique finishes. Our aged stone collection has been modeled after these beautiful old world floors. Each piece has been cut from our own natural limestone and traditionally hand finished. Running your hands across the surface reveals gradual dips and rises, alluring patinas and the burnish of time created with the same artisan techniques that have been used for centuries.

RE-EDITION COLLECTION

Re-edition is the art of replicating, by hand, the look and feel of reclaimed limestone from chateaus, estates and farmhouses in the countryside of France. We have taken our knowledge of reclaimed material and combined it with raw material from our quarries to create this collection. Our natural stone blocks have been cut and meticulously hand worked to replicate centuries worth of aging and variation. The resulting floors are classic re-editions exuding the same warmth and character that is so pronounced in antique material.

PROVENCE COLLECTION

With a simple, satin-like hand finish and slightly pillowed edges, the stones in this collection are flexible and perfect for any setting. They are sophisticated enough to complement contemporary designs and work equally well with more rustic or traditional environments. There is also a wide tonal range to choose from. White, creamy stones are available alongside black marbles and grey limestones. Hewn into large 20" X 32" pieces, these stones expand and transform any space with their deceptively simple hand finish.

TEXAS LIMESTONE COLLECTION

Limestone has been used for centuries as flooring and architectural elements. It is a classic building material with a timeless quality, whose beauty only increases with age. We have the luxury of quarrying our own Texas limestones and have grouped three of them together for this collection. ## TUSCAN TERRA COTTA COLLECTION

Our deep appreciation for hand work is evident in our Tuscan Terra Cotta Collection. Natural red clay is hand pressed and fired in traditional wood-burning kilns. Each piece is available in its natural state, or with a rich stain—again, applied by our artisans' hands. Shapes include rectangles, squares, hexagons, thin running bonds and interlocking sevilles. Terra cotta is extremely versatile, and the number of sizes we've made available offer a limitless number of design possibilities.

Description

European chateaus were traditionally furnished with thick, textured stone. Over time, retouched surfaces combined with natural wearing to form unique finishes. Our aged stone collection has been modeled after these beautiful old world floors. Each piece has been cut from our own natural limestone and traditionally hand finished. Running your hands across the surface reveals gradual dips and rises, alluring patinas and the burnish of time created with the same artisan techniques that have been used for centuries.

RE-EDITION COLLECTION

natural stone, page 030

Description

Re-edition is the art of replicating, by hand, the look and feel of reclaimed limestone from chateaus, estates and farmhouses in the countryside of France. We have taken our knowledge of reclaimed material and combined it with raw material from our quarries to create this collection. Our natural stone blocks have been cut and meticulously hand worked to replicate centuries worth of aging and variation. The resulting floors are classic re-editions exuding the same warmth and character that is so pronounced in antique material.
